NEU OF GERMANY nye

The Nyes who are descended from the NEU family of Germany may display the Neu of Germany coat of arms. Authority is from Sibmacher Wappenbuch, Volume II, part 1 which gives (translated):

"Bestowed by Kaiser Mathias, 1614;
In shield, two oblique bars, the upper red,
the lower blue; between the two three yellow rising moons. On the helmet red-silver and silver-blue divided horns, a star with a red flame coming out of the point."

INTRODUCTION

When the Nye Family of America Association began its search in 1963 for data to update the Genealogy of the Nye Family, first published in 1907, it was believed that virtually all Nyes were of common origin. Indeed, in sheer numbers, the descendants of Benjamin and Katherine (Tupper) Nye, the first known of Nye name on this continent do represent a sizeable majority of the Nye population in the United States. However, early in the survey, groups of Nyes began to be identified who could not be traced to any connection with Benjamin. Traced far enough, they almost always disappeared into the early history of Pennsylvania.

That there was such a problem in Nye history was known to the compiler of the first Nye genealogy as evidenced in addresses by George H. Nye at Nye Family reunions in the early 1900's. Whether he had attempted to solve the riddle is unknown, as his records were lost in the intervening years.

The first break in solving the mystery came when Charles W. Nye of Ellwood City, Pa. called attention to, and loaned a copy of a splendid genealogy of the Andrew Nye family of Ellwood City. This document, described later in this book was never published; the only known copy available for public study is a microfilm copy in the Genealogy Library of the L. D. S. Church in Salt Lake City, Utah. It is of interest that the compilers of that genealogy also believed that they were descended from Benjamin and Katherine. Meanwhile, data coming in from the survey began to identify other large groups of Pennsylvania origin, and individuals of these families began to work diligently in collecting and organizing their family histories. The Nye Family of America Association, early recognizing the responsibility of preserving the data being collected, planned first to include the material in a special section of the Volume II of Benjamin Nye's descendants, even though it was obvious there was no blood relationship to these groups. As the volume of information grew, economics and problems of reader convenience initiated the decision to create a separate volume. Thus, this book came into being.

To understand the origins of the Pennsylvania Nyes, we must look to the history of the area of Europe lying west of the Rhine River in Germany which was known as the Palatinate. In the late 1600's this peaceful area of largely Protestant faith began an era of dreadful persecution and general turmoil. In the autumn of 1685, Louis XIV of France revoked the Edict of Nantes which had protected the individual rights of the French in religious freedom. Liberals and Protestants in France fled from the resultant wave of religious persecution into neighboring areas, notably the Palatinate. There, they were made welcome by the kindness and similar beliefs of the native peoples.

The harboring of these fugitives evoked the wrath of Louis and he sent an army of 50,000 into the area with orders "to make the Palatinate a desert".

In 1690, John Williams became the Elector Palatine and sought to bring the Palatinate under the Roman See, and thus initiated an era of religious persecution from within. The Spanish Succession occupied the area from 1701-1713, this era being terminated by the Peace of Utrecht. During this period, in 1707, Marshall Villars had again led the French Army into the Palatinate to deliberately wreak desolation.

The terrors and cruelties of their invading tormentors and the bigotries of their local government caused a great exodus of fugitives, both of the Palatines, and the people whom they had earlier sheltered. They were made welcome by the British, among others, both for compassionate reasons, and at least by the British, for practical reasons. Colonists were needed in the new world. Every assistance was given to those who wished to emigrate to America, and who would take the oath of allegiance. Tens of thousands came in the resulting wave of immigration, largely leaving Europe through the port of Rotterdam, Holland, and entering America through the port of Philadelphia. They were given in ships' passenger lists simply as "Palatines". The term Palatine was used synonymously to mean foreigner and does not necessarily mean that the immigrant was from the Palatinate, many being French Huguenots, or from Holland or other surrounding areas of Europe.

Thus, the genealogist attempting to pierce the veil of history finds an impassable barrier. There just are no records earlier than the first traces of most of these immigrants in this country. How many of those now known as Nye are descended from the ancient and royal German family of Neu or how many from Germanized French Huguenot families of Noye, or other sources may never be known. The one exception in this book is the family of George Ludwig Neu who was not a Palatine, but instead from Bavaria, Germany.

A list has been compiled of those whose name is known to have evolved into Nye, or could have done so. Those whose descendants are listed in this book are preceded by an asterisk (*). The spelling of the surnames is often uncertain. Many, perhaps most, were illiterate and signed their names simply as (X). The names on ships' passenger lists, oaths of allegiance, etc., were presumably spelled phonetically by the recorders so that names proven to be of the same person may turn up with spellings such as Neu, Ney, Neigh, Nigh or Nye. The same holds for several succeeding generations in tax lists, wills, land records, military records, etc. in Pennsylvania and neighboring states.

1. Jasper Neye, also known as Casper Neye, October 2, 1727 on the Adventure Galley.
- *2. Andreas Nay, also listed as Andtreas Ney and Andtreas Nay, September 29, 1733 on the Pink Mary. Also with him was his wife Maria Elizabeth and children, Maria Elizabeth 7 and Hans (John) Michel, age 3-1/2. They later settled in Northampton County.
3. Fallendin Neu, also known as Vallentin Neu, age 24, September 1, 1736 on the Harle. With him was his wife Ann Catherine, age 25. They settled in Berks Co. and had at least four children, George, Valentine, Sylvester and Elizabeth. (See footnote.)
4. Johan Casper Nayn, also listed as Johan Casper Neun, October 5, 1737 on the Townshend.
5. Joseph Neig, age 23, December 3, 1740 on the Samuel. He was the brother of Peter Neu who arrived later, October 1, 1754, sons of George and Christina Margaret (Gentess) Neu, citizens of Breidfurt in the County of Hudelburg in the Electoral of Palatinate, Germany.

6. Otto Ney, September 30, 1723 on the ships Phoenix and Robert & Alice (via Cowes, England).
7. Johannes Neu, also listed as Neun on the Two Brothers.
8. John Peter Nay, age 25, October 25, 1728 on the Patience & Margaret.
- *9. John Adam Neu and John Nickel Neu, September 11, 1749 on the Priscilla. They settled in Lancaster Co., Pa.
10. Otto Daniel Neues on the Brothers.
11. H. George Ney and Johannes Ney, September 5, 1751 on the Shirley.
12. Christn Ney, also known as Neues, October 3, 1753 on the Eastern Branch.
13. Peter Neu, also known as Ney, October 1, 1754 on the Phoenix.
14. Abraham Neu, November 25, 1763 on the Success.
15. Jacob Neu, October 10, 1768 on the Minerva.
16. Johannes Nicalaus Neu, October 31, 1771 on the Recovery.
17. Lewis Noy and John Noy, November 19, 1771 on the Tyger.
18. Jacob Neu and Stefel Neu, September 18, 1773 on the Britannia.
19. Jean Bartholmeus Ney, September 30, 1774 on the Union.
20. George Ludwig Neu, arrived 1834 at New York City from Leistatt, Bavaria. He later settled in Pike Co., Ohio.

Nowhere in the lists of arrivals does the name Nye, or Nigh appear. However, the German pronunciation of Neu has a sound similar to the syllable "noy" in annoy; this spelled phonetically quickly became Nye, Ney, Nigh, Noye, etc. by land recorders, military records, etc. It was no doubt simpler for the newcomer, faced with language barriers, to accept the new spelling rather than argue them, especially if property titles, military benefits, etc. were so listed. Some of the newcomers possibly retained the original spelling, some evolved into still other spellings and some no doubt perished or did not beget families for other reasons.

This book describes many families, some whose tie to the correct one of the above list can only be surmised. It is not an integrated genealogy of a single source as the other Nye Genealogies, Volumes I and II: rather it is a collection of separate works by differing genealogists whose authorship will be credited in the separate chapters. Thus the style, contents and even numbering methods vary from chapter to chapter.

Footnote:

VALENTINE NEU, also known as Ney and Neyn, born 1711, settled in Tulphohockan Twp., Berks County, Pa. He left a will in Berks Co. naming his wife, Anna Catherine, and the following children:

George

Eldest daughter who married Peter Aamin

Daughter who married George Bress

Daughter who married Valentine Zerbe

Daughter who married John Stehr

Jacob, born 1755

Daughter who married Andrew Emrich

Sylvester.

George became a land owner in Berks Co. and a saw mill operator. Land records show the name often as NEW. Also by 1800 other names commonly in records were Sylvester and Dennis in the same township.

Jacob removed to Orange County, Va. after the Revolution in which he served. From there he removed to Lincoln County, N. C.; next to Clark County, Ia. where he lived for 10 years, then Washington Co., Ia. for 21 years, and the last two years he lived in Owen Co., Ind. His only child of record was a daughter born November 19, 1787 in Berks Co., Pa.

- 1a. Andreas Ney, also known as Andtreas Nay, arrived in the Port of Philadelphia September 29, 1733. With him were his wife Maria Elizabeth, and children Anna Barbara, age 7 and Hans (John) Michel, age 3-1/2. They arrived on the ship Pink Mary from Rotterdam, Holland by way of Plymouth, England. His origin is listed as the Palatinate, a district west of the Rhine in Germany. It is likely that in Germany his name was NEU. He settled in Northampton County, Pa. Little is known of his subsequent life. The church records which might lend proof to our assumptions have not been found, if they even exist. However circumstantial evidence strongly indicates that he had more children and that Maria Elizabeth perished and Andreas re-married. With the reservation that however strong the evidence, the proof is circumstantial, his descendants known and assumed were as follows:

ANDREW NYE

One of the largest separately identifiable family of Nyes originating in Pennsylvania are the descendants of Andrew Nye who established his home in Beaver County about 1781. Family tradition is vague about his birthplace, only giving that he was born June 6, 1750 and came from "the forks of the Delaware".

In 1938 an excellent genealogy was compiled on this family including the subsidiary families of Deemer, Main, Matheny and smaller families stemming from the Andrew Nye line. This work, compiled by Andrew Avory Nye II, John A. Nye and Alice Matheny Pappas was never published, exists only as a limited number of mimeographed copies distributed through the families. A copy of this work, graciously made available by Charles W. Nye of Ellwood City, Pa. combined with returns from the 1963-64 survey by the Nye Family of America Association and considerable information on this line found in the files of the L. D. S. Library at Salt Lake City, Utah, was the reference material from which the Andrew Nye section of this book was compiled. While this book more completely covers the Nye descendants of Andrew it makes no pretense of approaching the total coverage of Andrew's descendants given by the 1938 manuscript. The only known copy of the 1938 work available to searchers is a microfilm copy, acquired by the L. D. S. Genealogy Library at Salt Lake City.

The compilers of the 1938 book assumed, as did most until recently, that all Nyes in the United States were related and descended from Benjamin and Katherine (Tupper) Nye of Massachusetts. (See Volumes I & II). We know now that we have to look elsewhere for the ancestry of this family.

1. ANDREW NYE (Andreas) born June 6, 1750. No records have been found of his birth. Church records at Shaunee (then Smithfield), New York, show that Andrew, son of Andries Ney and wife, Selli Roos, was baptised November 26, 1752. Sponsors were Cornelius Kuykendal and wife, Maritje Westfal. Andreas had died prior to Andrew's baptism, for Sara Roos, wife of Andries Nye (on February 2, 1752), married Leur Kuykendal, widower of Lena Gonzales. They had a child, Abram, baptised May 20, 1753. They removed to Washington County, Pennsylvania. There Andrew Nye is later shown as executor of the will of Lewis and Selli Kuykendal, dated February 18, 1782, probated 1789.

Family tradition says that he was born at the "forks of the Delaware" which would place the birth at approximately Easton, in Northampton County, Pa. The only family in this area known to have evolved into the Nye name is the family springing from Andreas Ney. Andrew was known to have a half brother Samuel, who migrated to western Pennsylvania with him. The names he gave his children have a striking parallel to the names of Andrew Neigh, grandson of Andreas Ney; Andrew Neigh according to these assumptions would have been his nephew. The similarity of family names, the fact that he was born in the same community in the same time frame and the complete absence of other known family sources with these identifications lead to the conclusion that he could only have been the son of Andreas by a second wife. He is first noted in western Pennsylvania during the time of the Revolution when southwestern Pennsylvania was claimed by the state of Virginia. The area of Westmoreland county to the south west was called Yogohania County, Va. Andrew is referred to in court records of that county in real estate transactions and approved as "a proper person as Lieutenant of Militia". This county existed in Virginia records only from 1776 to 1786. During this same period Pennsylvania also claimed the area so that Andrew is also shown paying taxes in Washington County, Pa. in 1781 and later in 1791 in Alleghany County when this county was formed from Washington County.

ANDREW NYE was the first white man, or one of the first to settle in the region of Pennsylvania near the bank of the Connóquenessing River.

Even the given name of his first wife is still uncertain. One record calls her "Catherine Burns" while another gives it as "Eleanor" or "Nellie". The number of Eleanors among her descendants gives credence to the latter supposition. He married (2nd) Rachel McDonald, born November 10, 1760; died December 16, 1847. Andrew died March 1, 1821.

Children:

2. Sarah, born August 31, 1775; died November 29, 1852; married Adam Deemer, Jr., son of Adam Deemer and Dorothy Ketchelman. They lived in Beaver Co. which later became (Hazel Dell) Ellwood City, Lawrence Co., Pennsylvania. Adam Deemer was born November 13, 1777; died November 8, 1840.

JOHAN ADAM NEU

FIRST GENERATION

FOREWORD

Four of Henry Nye's great-great-grandchildren have worked together to compile the following genealogy. They have received help from well over a hundred other individuals, some descendants of Henry and others merely individuals who were willing to provide helpful information.

In addition to listing the descendants of Henry, an attempt has been made to trace his ancestry back to Germany, but to date we have only uncovered information as far back as his grandfather who came to America in 1749.

The pages on Johan Adam Neu and John Nicholas Neu contain fragmentary information which, when put together with information from Mrs. Buford Curtis, a professional genealogist working on the family, and from other Pennsylvania Nye's, give a more complete history of the Pennsylvania Nye Family.

The four descendants who compiled this booklet were:

Ruby Nigh Gilbert, great-granddaughter of Henry's son, Samuel.

Florence Nye Schwartz, great-granddaughter of Henry's son, David.

Ormand Samuel Nye, great-grandson of Henry's son, John.

Charles Richard Nye, great-grandson of Henry's son, Nicholas

JOHAN ADAM NEU

Johan Adam Neu, father of John Nicholas Neu, came to America in 1749 from Germany aboard the Ship Priscilla. The ship left Europe from Rotterdam and stopped at Cowes, England before proceeding to the port of Philadelphia, province of Pennsylvania where it landed on Sept. 11, 1749. Capt. William Muir was the officer in charge on the "Ship Priscilla". There were 293 persons on the ship, including 77 who signed the list.

The official record for their arrival reads as follows:

"Monday, Sept. 11, 1749. At the Court House at Philadelphia.
Present: Joshua Maddox, Esquire.

The foreigners whose names are underwritten, imported in the Priscilla, Capt. Wm. Muir, from Rotterdam, and last from Cowes, in England, did this day take the usual oaths to the Government. By list 77; Persons 293. "

Among the names on the list were:

Johan Nickel Neu

Johan Adam Neu . . . their names appearing just next to each other as here.

The list did not include the names of children, but John Nicholas must have been on the ship with his parents. Also, William, born on Aug. 19, 1746 in Germany. There must have been another son, John, on the same ship with Johan Adam Neu because mention is made of a son, John, later in the will of Johan Adam Neu.

Seven children of Johan Adam Neu and his wife, Eve Elizabeth, were baptized at the "Hill" Church between 1751 and 1766.

The next official record of Johan Adam Neu is the warrant he took out, dated Feb. 10, 1757, for 100 acres of land situated in Derry Township, Lancaster Co., Pa. That was warrant No. 94. The warrant listed the name as John Adam New. The survey of that land was made on Feb. 25, 1757 but the land was not bought by Johan Adam at that time.

The survey was returned on Oct. 25, 1765 for a larger piece of land instead of the 100 acres mentioned on the original warrant. The tract was finally patented to John Adam Neighs on Oct. 26, 1765 for 259 acres and allowance. John Adam paid Forty pounds, five shillings and nine pence lawful money for the land plus a Quitrent. The quitrent amounted to "one half penny sterling for every acre of the same or value thereof in coin Current according as the Exchange shall then be between our said Province and the City of London." It was to be paid on the first day of March every year at the town of Lancaster.

John Adam's wife, Eve Elizabeth, must have died because there is a record of a marriage of John Adam Neu and Veronica Barbara Koemmet performed by Rev. John Casper Stoevers.

In the History of Dauphin and Lebanon County published by William Egle, John Adam Ney of Derry Township is listed as having died in Feb., 1783, leaving a wife, Veronica Barbara and 8 children. At the Lancaster County Courthouse the will of John Adam Neu also lists a wife, Veronica Barbara and the same 8 children.

The will was written on Dec. 14, 1782. In the County record book at Lancaster, the date under which the registrar's name appears is March 26, 1783.

JOHN NICKEL NEU, brother of John Adam Neu, also was evidently in this area for a while as several of his children are listed in the church record for the church at Quitapohila in what is now Lebaonon Co. , Pa. Among whom was Michael Neu born Oct. 4, 1744 in Ellenich, Magistracy of Traeback, at the Moselle, Germany. Other children of John Nicholas Neu listed in the church records were John Philip born Oct. 3, 1750 and John Peter born July 1753. It is interesting to note that sponsors for him were Peter Feltin and wife who was Maria Catherine Neu who might possibly have been the sister of John Adam and John Nicholas Neu since Johanna Peter Velten (Fehlten) came to Pennsylvania with Johann Michel Neu and is listed in the deposition with him and his trade given as cobbler. Also listed in the Annotations to Strassburger etc. was John Michel Neu, linen weaver, son of Phillip Neu. This John Michel is said to have died soon after arriving in America. But since the Neu's in this area seem to be related it is possible that this John Michel is possibly kin to the other Neu's in this area as John Nicholas had a son named John Philip.

Also mentioned in the same records of the Archives at Speyer is a Geo. Neu, inhabitant and Citizen of Breifurt (d. 18 July 1756) and his wife Christina Margaret Gentess who had the following children who came to America.

Joseph Neu "who about 18 years ago migrated to America and is about 40 years old." (b. ca. 1718)

and

Peter Neu who also "some five years ago removed to America and is about 30 years old" (Deposition taken Feb. 8, 1758) (B. ca. 1728)

In the Strassburger & Hinke lists of German Pioneers Joseph Neig came in 1740 on the Ship Samuel (note date coincides with time he is credited with leaving Germany in the deposition and Peter Neu came in 1754 on the Ship Phoenix.

To further support that these seemly different Neu families are more closely related than at present meet the eye is indicated in the "Hill Church Records" where the marriage of Joseph Neu and Anna Eva Luct of Moden Creek, (Krich) is listed Jan. 30, 1749. Also listed in these church records was Johann Peter Felten and Maria Catharina Nue Feb. 5, 1751.

In the records of Rev. John Waldschmidt of Cocalico, Moden Krich, Weisseichen Land, Seltenreich and Gemeinde, Lancaster Co. , Pa. is recorded the birth of Anna Maria Neu daughter of Josef & wife b. _____ baptised Nove. 21, 1749. These same church records show that she died Jan. 17, 1769 and noted else where is the record of Johannes Schwartz, son of Daniel and Anna Marie b. Jan. 11, 1769 bap. Jan. 17, 1769. Mother was only daughter of Josef Neu, she died Jan. 16, 1769.

The marriage record of Peter Nau and Anna, widow of Zacharias Rast is recorded on Sept. 24, 1783. Whether this is the Peter Nai who served in the Revolutionary War from Pennsylvania has not at this time been determined although his wife is listed as Anna Maria.

Also listed in the Annotations was a John Michel Neu, son of Phillip who might possibly be the Johannes Neu who came in 1748 on the Ship Two Brothers and is said to have died soon after his arrival.

SECOND GENERATION

JOHN NICHOLAS NEU (John A.) was born on June 6, 1742 in Germany. He emigrated to America with his parents in his 8th year. He was confirmed in 1770. On March 26, 1771 John Nicholas Neu and Eva Catharine Ridsiehl (Rudisil) were married by the Rev. John Casper Stoevers. Their marriage is recorded in the records of two of the churches Rev. Stoevers served: "The Evangelical Lutheran Congregation at the Quitapohilla in Lebanon Township" (called the "Hill" church) founded in 1743 and in the records of the "Bindnagle Evangelical Lutheran Church" near Palmyra, along the Swatara Creek, founded in 1745.

The church record concerning John Nicholas Neu states that he lived with Eva Catharine for 30 years. It goes on to say that they were blessed with 6 sons and 6 daughters of whom 9 were living in Nov. , 1800 at the time of Nicholas' death.

In the record of deaths at the Bindnagle Lutheran Church the following notation is made about John Nicholas Neu: "he was sickly a long time and a fortnight before his death he had an attack of pleurisy and coughing." The record gave his age at that time of his death at 58 years, 5 mos. less 2 days or (58 yrs. , 4 mos. 28 days). This would mean he died on Nov. 4, 1800.

The records of deeds in the Dauphin County Courthouse do not mention Nicholas. There is no will in the Dauphin County Court House for Nicholas, but there is a record of his son acting as administrator of his letters and papers. The record is listed as "Nicholas Neigh" whose son, John Neigh, was made administrator of his letters on Feb. 23, 1801. At that time 150 pounds was posted as bond by John Neigh.

In the Orphans Court Records for Dauphin County there is a reference in 1807 concerning the account of Nicholas Ney. John Ney was listed as administrator for Nicholas Ney and the following statement of account was made: "Balance of 27 pounds, 3 shillings & 11 pence in the hands of the accountant which account the court confirm and do order that the said balance be distributed according to law."

No record was found for the death of Eva Catharine (Rudisil) Neu. No headstones are to be found at the "Hill" Church or the "Bindnagle" Church for either John Nicholas or Eva Catharine.

The records at the Bindnagle Church show the baptism of ten of Nicholas' children.

THIRD GENERATION

HENRY NYE

HENRY NYE, son of John Nicholas Neu and Eva Catharine (Rudisil) Neu, was born on Dec. 18, 1785. He was baptized on Feb. 1, 1786 at the Bindnagle Evangelical Lutheran Church near Palmyra, Pa. The sponsors at his baptism were John Schnock and wife.

He married Elizabeth _____ and their son, Samuel, was born on Nov. 10 or 11, 1809. Samuel was baptized at the Bindnagle Church on Mar. 3, 1810 with Jacob Stroh and wife serving as sponsors.

The next record we have of Henry is his inclusion in the Census of 1820 in Franklin County, Pa. At that time the census stated that living in Henry's household were 2 males under 10, one male 10 but under 16 and one male 26 but under 45; and 2 females under 10, one female 10 but under 16 and one female 26 but under 45. The 2 boys under 10 would have been David, born in 1813 and John, born in 1818. The boy over 10 but under 16 was Samuel, born in 1809. The 2 girls under 10 were Sarah, born in 1811 and Catharine, born in 1817. However, there is no record of the female who was over 10 but under 16. She could have been born before 1809 and been baptized at Bindnagle also, but the church records for 1799 to 1809 are missing.

The first record of Henry's attendance at the Salem Lutheran Church, Pleasant Hall, Franklin Co., Pa. (church founded around 1790) was on Aug. 26, 1827 when he took communion there. The next reference at the church shows that on July 27, 1828 both Henry and Elizabeth took communion there. In the records of Salem Lutheran Church, Henry's name is variously spelled as Ney, New, Neu, Nei and Nigh.

On March 7, 1829 four of Henry and Elizabeth's children were baptized in Salem Lutheran Church: Sarah, Catharine, John and Adam. Nicholas was baptized there on Sept. 5, 1830. No record was found anywhere for the baptism of their son, David, born in 1813.

The communion records at Salem Lutheran Church for both Henry and Elizabeth continue until Sept. 12, 1841. After that date there is no record of Elizabeth taking communion. May 8, 1847 is the last date recorded in the communion records for Henry.

Henry's name appears in the census records of 1850 for Franklin Co., Pa. as being 65 years of age. It appears again in the 1860 census records for the same county. His name is not in the census records of 1870. Elizabeth's name does not appear in the 1850 census records. In both the 1850 and 1860 census, there were only 2 other members of Henry's household listed: his son, Adam, and Adam's wife, Nancy Foust Nye.

Henry was a farmer, working about 50 acres of land in Letterkenny Township, Franklin Co., Pa. He was also a weaver. He built a log house which still stands on a hill between present-day Nyesville and Muddy Run, a creek which empties into the Rowe Run and thence into the Conodoguinet Creek.

No will or deed containing the name of this Henry Nye is to be found in the Franklin County records, the Cumberland County records or the Dauphin County records.

Henry and Elizabeth are known to be buried in the cemetery at Salem Lutheran Church, Pleasant Hall, Pa., but the headstones are gone.

The church records at that church do not list any deaths in the early record book covering the years from the church's beginning up to 1877.

SECOND GENERATION

JOHN PETER NEU (John Adam) was born September 29, 1762 and baptised at the Quitapohila Church on October 10, 1762. Sponsors were John Peter Feltin and wife Mary Catherine (Neu). GEORG LUDWIG NEU

Compiled by: Mrs. Mildred L. Carr Nye

In offering this compilation for publication, the author wishes it understood that it is the work of a strictly amateur genealogist, and is her first attempt at compiling family history.

Since marrying into the Nye family over thirty-three years ago, she has been interested in recording data on the immediate families -- descendants of her husband's grandfather. Only seven years ago did she commence the task of gathering data for the two other main branches of this genealogical record. The only name she had in her files at that time on which to build this part of the record was that of Rev. William A. Nye, the man who had reared her husband's orphaned grandfather. With that name, and an innate curiosity for genealogical matters, this compilation was begun.

There have been many pleasures in the task, which the compiler considers her number-one hobby, the most enjoyable phase being the opportunity of making the acquaintance of so many of the distant "cousins", especially the elderly ones.

That the time for publication has arrived before the mystery of the "missing link" could be solved is the principal regret. Even as this material is submitted, the search for that name is continuing.

The finding of that name is her hope for the immediate future. Her desire for the far-distant future is that a great-great granddaughter, who she feels certain will inherit her curiosity for genealogical matters, will some day discover this record on a dark and dusty shelf, and will enthusiastically exclaim, "Well, bless Granny!"

Explanatory Notes

In this genealogical record, a system of numbering has been adopted whereby any descendant can be immediately traced to the common progenitor, Georg Ludwig Neu, I.

Each child in each family is assigned a number according to the order of his birth in that family; e. g. , 1. 6 means the sixth child of the first ancestor; 1. 6. 4 means the fourth child of the sixth child of ;the first ancestor, etc.

Adopted children, or children of adopted children are likewise assigned a number, but this number appears in parentheses; both in the text and in the index of the direct descendants.

Persons who have married into the family (in-laws) are assigned the same number as the spouse; likewise step-children are assigned the same number as the parents. These latter two groups are listed together in a separate index.

Women who have married into the family are indexed by their maiden name. If a woman has been previously married, her maiden name is used, if known, both in the text and in the index. If her maiden name is not known, her previous married name is used in the index, followed by "Mrs. " in parenthesis. Her previous marriage is usually referred to in the text if that information is available.

If the first name of a person is in parentheses, this indicates that name was not, or is not, commonly used by that person. If a name other than the first appears in parentheses, that name is usually a shortened form or the name by which that person is more commonly known.

Information on any person listed in the index of direct descendants may be located in the text by using his assigned number. First, disregard the final digit and refer to the remaining number in that corresponding generation (three remaining digits, Third Generation; five remaining digits, Fifth Generation, etc.) where that person's name will be found listed in his parents' family.

If an asterisk appears before his name as here listed, this indicates that he himself was or is a parent, in which case his own biography is given in the following generation under his own complete number, and where also his own child or children are listed.

The biography of a person who has never married, or who has married but does not have children, is given in the same generation with his parents.

Information on any person listed in the index of other names (in-laws) may be found by referring to his assigned number in that corresponding generation (six digits, Sixth Generation, etc.) where such information is included with the marriage information of his spouse.

FIRST GENERATION

(GEORG) LUDWIG NEU, 1

Born 1766 or 1767, probably in Germany. He was 57 years old at the time of the birth of his son, Anselm Neu (1.7) on May 25, 1824; and at that time he was residing in "the Community and Mayoralty of Leistadt, of the province of Durkheim, provincial Commissariat of Neustadt in the Royal Bavarian Rhine District" according to an abstract from the birth registers of the community of Leistadt concerning the birth record of his son, Anselm Neu. In later years one of his granddaughters, (Emma Susan Nye 1.7.9) who was an Iowa schoolteacher, took a trip to Europe and located his former home. It was a stone house built in the wall around the village. A great-granddaughter (Fannie Nye, 1.7.1.4) also visited this area in 1928, but due to a severe rain storm, she did not go to Leistadt.

According to most sources of information, he immigrated to the United States with his wife and at least two of his children, Elizabeth (1.6) and Anselm, in the early 1830's, landed at New York, and traveled to Waverly, Pike Co., Ohio. The obituaries of his wife and of his two known children, the family Bible of his son, Anselm (William A. Nye) and published biographical records of his children disagree as to the exact year of immigration (from 1833 to 1835). One descendant believed he arrived in 1831.

Concerning his emigration from Germany one great-grandson stated: "Georg Ludwig Neu, who lived in Bavaria, with his family became a part of a group of political refugees. They traveled, in 1834, via vehicles drawn by oxen, to Brest, France. Here they sold their equipment and livestock to help pay their passage to the United States. They settled in Chillicothe, Ross Co., Ohio."

Another great-grandson believed that the emigration occurred for a different reason. He believed that Anselm's father was the younger son of a well-to-do Bavarian gentleman, upper middle class or lesser nobility; and that, like most Bavarians, the family was of the Catholic faith. This descendant further believed that the younger son broke with this religion and that this, in turn, resulted in his break with the family, and in his leaving home, going first to England where he married an English woman and became the father of four or five young sons before sailing to America.

He died Oct. 8, 1834, at Waverly, Pike Co., Ohio, according to the published biographies of his children. However, there are several conflicting beliefs among his descendants concerning the time, place, and circumstances of his death. His burial place is unknown. No death record or obituary has been located.

The obituary of his wife did not mention the death of her husband. The information given in the obituary of his daughter, Elizabeth, was that her father had lived only one week after their arrival at Waverly, Ohio; and his son Anselm's obituary agreed that Georg Ludwig had died shortly after their arrival in Ohio.

Despite the information in these obituaries and in the published biographies, several of his great-grandsons who have been contacted have had widely different opinions concerning the death of their ancestor.

The opinion of one was that Georg Ludwig Neu was robbed and killed shortly after his arrival in New York, and that after his death the older sons of the family obtained work and remained in the East while the mother brought the two younger children, Elizabeth and Anselm, to Ohio. He believed that this was the manner in which the family became separated.

Another great-grandson firmly believed that this great-grandfather died enroute to the United States, that he was buried at sea, and that only the widow, with Anselm and several younger brothers arrived in New York. This descendant's version of the family's separation was that the widow, being practically destitute, "farmed out" the younger children into homes where they were offered care, and that she brought only Anselm to Ohio, her first destination being Marietta, Ohio.

Still another great-grandson made the definite statement that "Georg Ludwig died a few years after coming to the United States".

Marriage: Date and place unknown. To Anne Marie (Mary) Habig, born September 4, 1782, in Germany. She was known as "Mary Nye" in this country. She resided in Ohio after the death of her husband, migrating later to Iowa, probably at the time of her children's migration with a caravan of pioneers (1844-45) and settling at Chillicothe in Wapello County. She was residing in the home of her son, William Anselm Nye (1.7) at the time of the 1850 Federal Census and the 1856 State Census of that county. She spoke only German, and was a member of the German Reform Church. She died October 10, 1871, in Cass Township, Wapello Co., Iowa. Interred at Chillicothe under the name "Mary Nye". Her obituary is headed, "Mrs. Anna M. Nye".

(That so many varying opinions could develop within so few generations of time is not only interesting but also frightfully indicative of how soon the facts concerning present generations may become distorted unless family records are carefully preserved.)

Children:

- 1.1 A daughter who married and stayed in Germany (?). Name unknown. Only one descendant of Georg Ludwig Neu has mentioned the existence of this daughter. Nothing further known about her.
- 1.2) Names and number unknown. Several great-grandsons of Georg
- 1.3) Ludwig Neu believed that there were several boys in this family who
- 1.4) were in some way separated from the rest of the family. One grandson of William A. (Anselm) Nye made this statement: "This is factual and certain: Grandfather Nye never gave up search for his lost brothers and never located any of them . . . this search became an obsession with him in his later years. He spent a great deal of time and money in tracking down fruitless clubs." (These numbers; 1.2, 1.3 and 1.4, are unassigned to allow for additions to this record should any of these "lost brothers" be located.)

- * 1.5 A son who was the father of Henry Nye. Name unknown. ("Missing Link") Born probably in Germany, prior to 1824.
- * 1.6 Elizabeth E. Neu (Nye). Born July 17, 1821, in Leistadt, (spelled "Leischtot" in her obituary), Bavaria, Germany.
- * 1.7 Anselm Neu (William Anselm Nye). Born May 25, 1824, in Leistadt, Bavaria, Germany.

SECOND GENERATION

THE FATHER OF HENRY NYE, 1.5

Name unknown, ("Missing Link"). Born probably in Germany, prior to 1824. One great-grandson of Georg Ludwig Neu stated that Georg Ludwig Neu and his wife "brought three children with them to the United States: The father of Henry, Elizabeth and Anselm." Brief searches in the "Passenger Lists of Immigrants Arriving at New York" in the National Archives have failed to disclose further information. No legal records or anything in print has been located to identify the father of Henry Nye. However, much evidence exists to indicate that, whatever his name, he was probably a son of Georg Ludwig Neu. So far as is known he was the father of only the one son, Henry, who was born January 3, 1844, at Waverly, Pike Co., Ohio, according to Henry's obituary and gravestone data.

In a newspaper account of Henry Nye's death (obituary) this statement was made: "Mr. Nye's parents (not named) moved to Chillicothe (Iowa) when he was an infant, and when but a lad of five years he was left an orphan." This fixes the date of death of Henry's father between 1844 and 1849, and the probable place as Wapello County, Iowa.

Marriage: Date and place unknown, probably in Pike or Ross County, Ohio. Wife's name unknown. Her death probably occurred in Wapello Co., Iowa, between 1844 and 1849.

(It is interesting to note at this point that, in addition to the marriage of William A. Nye and Rebecca Wicker, there are recorded in "Pike County Ohio, Court Records of Marriage"; D. A. R., 1952; the following two marriages which occurred there early enough that either couple could possibly have been the parents of Henry Nye: (1) George Nye and Lucinda Warren, married April 5, 1838; and (2) George Nye and Louisa Allen, married January 2, 1840. It should also be noted that neither of these marriages appears in the 1907 Nye genealogy book. This fact, however, does not prove that either of these two Nyes were of Georg Ludwig's family nor that either was the father of Henry Nye.)

Child:

- * 1.5.1 Henry Nye, born January 3, 1844, at Waverly, Pike Co., Ohio.

1.6 ELIZABETH E. NEU (NYE), born July 17, 1821, in Leistadt, Bavaria, Germany. She was confirmed in the Lutheran Church at the age of 13, and at about that same age she came with her parents to America and settled at Waverly, Pike Co. , Ohio. After her marriage she and her husband farmed in Pike County until they moved to Wapello County, Iowa, in 1844-45, members of a caravan of pioneers. (For more details of this immigration to America and the migration to Iowa, see the biography of her brother, Anselm Neu (William Anselm Nye, 1.7)).

She died January 4, 1900 in Wapello Co. , Iowa, interred at Chillicothe.

Marriage: September 21, 1837, in Ross County, Ohio, to Tillman Warren, the son of John Warren, Jr. He was born about 1810 in Ohio. He was the first mail carrier between Ottumwa and Chillicothe, Iowa, and rode horseback to make the deliveries. He died March 10, 1855, in Wapello Co. , Iowa. Interred at Chillicothe.

Children:

Mary Jane Warren, born about 1838 in Pike County, Ohio.
Died in infancy.

1. 6. 2 Richard Tilton Warren, born about 1840 in Pike County, Ohio. He was brought to Wapello Co. , Iowa, with his parents when a child. He enlisted in the 36th Iowa Infantry on August 9, 1862, and was mustered into service September 6, 1862. He died August 2, 1863, at Helena, Arkansas. Interred in Mississippi River National Cemetery at Memphis, Tennessee. He was never married. (In the summer of 1962, just 100 years after his enlistment, his niece, Florence Warren-Waddington (1. 6. 5. 2) visited his grave. She is believed to be the only one of his relatives ever to have done so.)

- * 1. 6. 3 Rhoda Warren, born about 1842, in Pike Co. , Ohio.
- * 1. 6. 4 William Warren, born about 1844, in Pike Co. , Ohio.
- * 1. 6. 5 John Adam Warren, born September 29, 1847, in Wapello Co. , Iowa.
- * 1. 6. 6 Silas Warren, born February 2, 1850, in Wapello Co. , Iowa.
- * 1. 6. 7 Catherine Warren, born June 21, 1852, in Wapello Co. , Iowa.
- * 1. 6. 8 George L. Warren, born January 5, 1855, in Wapello Co. , Iowa.

1. 7 ANSELM NEU (REV. WILLIAM ANSELM NYE), born May 25, 1824, in Leistadt, Bavaria, Germany. Sources of information disagree as to the exact date he came to America with his parents, but it was in the early 1830's.

It is not known when the family changed the name from Neu to Nye, or by what method this was done, although it is believed they made the change shortly after coming to the United States, and that at that time Anselm had the name "William" prefixed to his name.

The following information is from a published biography of his life (Portrait and Biographical Album, Wapello County, Iowa. Chapman.

p. 437): "...In the spring of 1830 he commenced attendance in the school of his native town, where he continued the following four years, and then his father sold his property at a great sacrifice in order (as he said) to emigrate with his children to a free country. They embarked in July, 1834, and after a voyage of 37 days landed in New York City where, after a few days, they resumed their journey westward, and located in Waverly, Pike Co., Ohio. After a few days the father was seized with a fatal illness and died on the 8th of October, 1834. After this misfortune the family removed to a farm near Waverly where W. A. Nye attended school and began to learn the English language."

His obituary gives much the same story and continues: "He remained on the farm and attended school three months in the winter until he was eighteen years of age. . . . On the third of October, 1844, he was married to Miss Rebecca Wicker and five days later they left Ohio to seek a home and fortune in the far west. After stopping a few months in Knox County, Illinois, they came to Wapello County, Iowa, arriving here on the first day of March, 1845."

Concerning this migration to Iowa, one of his grandsons later wrote: "About ten years after settling in Ohio, the group learned of "the New Purchase" of land in what is now Iowa, from the Sac and Fox Indians, and of its being opened to settlers, May 1, 1843. A caravan of them came to Iowa during the autumn and winter of 1844-45. They were told of some desirable land on the south side of the Des Moines River, that had not been homesteaded because of the difficulties of crossing the river. However, they located a place where an approach to the river could be made. They used it and crossed the river on ice with their ox-drawn prairie schooners. They entered the new area on the south side of the river in February, 1845, and named the place, Chillicothe, after their former home in Ohio."

The first Sunday School in Wapello County was organized near Chillicothe in June, 1845, in a log cabin home of William Anselm Nye, who was a Methodist circuit rider and rode horseback over the state to spread the Gospel. He was the superintendent of that Sunday School.

In 1890, a biography of his son, William A. Nye, Jr. (1.7.3) of Washington County, Kansas, was published, within which was this short sketch concerning "The father of the subject, W. A. Nye" (Portrait and Biographical Album of Washington, Clay and Riley Counties, Kansas. Chapman. pp. 1068-1069): "W. A. Nye is a resident of Wapello County, Iowa, and is one of the oldest living pioneers of that state. He has a farm of near 300 acres near Chillicothe, where he is engaged in farming and breeding fine stock. He is of German descent and has resided in Iowa since 1843. The estate which he now owns was entered by him prior to the admission of Iowa as a state. Before the war, he was engaged in a general merchandise trade in Chillicothe and continued in that business for several years. He has held a number of township offices and was treasurer of Wapello County from 1881 to 1885. He is of Republican politics and has been a delegate to county, state and congressional conventions."

He was a member of Ottumwa Lodge #16, A. F. and A. M. , Ottumwa, Iowa, having been initiated January 19, 1881.

Rev. William Anselm Nye died December 6, 1894, Chillicothe, Iowa. Interred Chillicothe cemetery.

Marriages: (1) October 3, 1844, Pike County, Ohio to Rebecca Wicker, born June 21, 1826, Pike County. She died August 8, 1855, Chillicothe, Iowa. Interred Chillicothe cemetery. One of her nephews wrote this concerning her: "She was a great woman and certainly a 'rugged individualist'. She was interested in educational work all her life. For several years she was superintendent of schools in Wapello County. She made several trips to Europe, traveling third class, and studied as a special student in Berlin, Leipsig and Paris . . . Long after learning that she was suffering from cancer, she volunteered for service with the Mount Berry school in Georgia . . . On one of her trips to Europe she made an effort to learn more about Grandfather William Anselm Nye. " She died in 1924 or 1926 at Plainview, Nebraska, where she had lived from time to time after her mother's death (1922) with her brother and wife, Dr. Frank Hoyt Nye (1. 7. 10). She also spent one winter after her mother's death in

New York at the home of her sister, Ida Kate Nye Strong (1.7.8). She was never married.

- * 1.7.11 Edward B. Nye, born May 5, 1868, at Chillicothe.

THIRD GENERATION

1.5.1 HENRY NYE, born January 3, 1844, at Waverly, Pike Co., Ohio, his parents' names unknown. A newspaper account of his death (obituary) contained this additional information: ". . . Mr. Nye's parents moved to Chillicothe (Iowa), when he was an infant, and when but a lad of five years he was left an orphan."

It is known that Henry Nye lived a part of his early life at Chillicothe in the home of Rev. William A. Nye (1.7) believed to have been his uncle. He is listed in that household in both the 1850 Federal Census of Wapello County and in the 1856 State Census of that county. William A. Nye's widowed mother, Mary, was also listed in that home at those times. In both records her name appeared below the names of the children of William A. Nye, and Henry's name appeared below her name.

According to the newspaper article referred to above, Henry returned to Ohio at the age of fifteen years and made his home with an uncle until August, 1861, when he enlisted in the 33rd Ohio Company D Infantry.

His grandson, Victor A. Nye (1.5.1.1.6) recalls listening when a child to his grandfather's tales of his experiences during the Civil War. Published records of the movements and battles of the 33rd Ohio unit verify his grandfather's reports, the highlight of them all being his claim to having personally witnessed the surrender of Lee to Grant, and to having participated in Sherman's famous march to the sea and in the Grand Review at Washington, D. C. (The writer of this biography, who is the wife of Victor A. Nye, laments the fact that Grandfather Nye, by his marching to the sea with Sherman, shares with him the guilt of having burned the courthouse at Canton, Cherokee Co., Georgia, thereby destroying the legal records pertaining to all four of her grandparents and several of her great-grandparents! Incidentally, three of her great-grandfathers fought with the Confederates, one of them serving with a company known as the "Cherokee Lincoln Killers", and another one serving with the "Cherokee Revengers".)

After the Civil War, Henry returned to Chillicothe, Iowa, where he married shortly afterwards, the Rev. William A. Nye officiating at the service. He then resided near Chillicothe where all of his five children were born during the years 1867 to 1877 inclusive.

He brought his family to Thomas County, Kansas, by covered wagon in 1886 and settled near Oakley. During this trip to Western Kansas the family camped in Washington County, Kansas, near Morrowville, where the younger William A. Nye, Jr. (1.7.3) was then residing with his family. This younger William A. Nye had a son Hugh B. Nye (1.7.3.2) who was about six years of age at that time. In late 1957, Hugh B. Nye (then about 77) could still recall the details of this family's camping near his father's home, even though there seemed to have been no contacts between the two families during the intervening years. He remembered the names of several members of the family.

Henry Nye lived in Thomas County, near Oakley, most of the remaining years of his life. After the death of his wife in 1922 he lived with his son, Charley W. Nye (1.5.1.1) near Oakley, and then with his daughter, Myrtle Alice Nye-Hildebradt (1.5.1.4) at Saline, Kansas, Saline County. He died May 28, 1928, at Salina, Kansas. Interred at Oakley, Kansas.

Marriage: December 31, 1865 at Chillicothe, Iowa, to Rhoda Catherine Warren, born October 12, 1850. at Lafayette, Indiana, the daughter of Ambrose Warren and Mary Ann Hockman. She was a niece of Tillman Warren, husband of Elizabeth E. Nye (1.6). Because of this relationship, the descendants of Elizabeth E. Nye are doubly related to the descendants of Henry Nye. She died January 14, 1922, at Oakley, Kansas. Interred at Oakley.

Children:

- * 1.5.1.1 Charley William Nye, born February 10, 1867, near Chillicothe, Wapello Co., Iowa.
- * 1.5.1.2 (Richard) Tilton Nye, born February 22, 1869, near Chillicothe.
- * 1.5.1.3 (Thomas) Clayton Nye, born May 4, 1871, near Chillicothe.
- * 1.5.1.4 Myrtle Alice Nye, born November 11, 1874 near Chillicothe.
- * 1.5.1.5 Cora Jane Nye, born March 23, 1877, near Chillicothe.

Interesting quotations taken from letters received from the distant "cousins" concerning their knowledge of Henry Nye:

A grandson of Rev. William A. Nye: "When a lad, I recall hearing my father and his brothers talking of Henry Nye living in their home at Chillicothe . . . As we understood it, Henry Nye's father was an older brother of our grandfather, William Anselm Nye".

A granddaughter of Elizabeth Nye-Warren: "I know Henry Nye was raised by Uncle William Nye. "

Another granddaughter of Elizabeth Nye-Warren: "I too think Henry was a nephew of Uncle William Nye".

A daughter-in-law of Rhoda Warren-Clark: "I do remember Mother Clark speaking of Henry Nye as her cousin. "

Another grandson of Rev. William A. Nye: "Your statement about Henry Nye was a big surprise to me, for I never heard of him. If he was reared by my grandfather he must have been much older than Grandfather's family by his first wife and lived in some other part of the country. "

Another grandson of Rev. William A. Nye: "I don't recall anything about Henry Nye. It does seem to me there is a vague recollection of having heard the name but I can't identify him in any way. "

Another grandson of Rev. William A. Nye: "While I realize that I have been unable to help establish the name of Henry's father, I am grateful to you for having 'prodded' me into putting together for the first time much that I am sending to you.

"In our younger days, if we ever give a thought to matters of family history, I believe that we rely on the older folks to preserve the records. Then, as we become the older generation, we find too late that records have been lost.

"I feel sure that somewhere in a family Bible our history has been recorded. "

He grew to manhood in the vicinity of Chillicothe, moving with his parents to Western Kansas by covered wagon in 1886 when his father homesteaded northeast of Oakley in Thomas County. He returned to Iowa for a few months coming again to Kansas in the spring of 1887.

After his marriage in 1889 he and his wife lived in the same neighborhood as his parents until late in 1890 when they moved to Elgin, Oregon. In 1893 they returned to Kansas in a covered wagon, a trip which took from June until mid-September. He bought a half section of school land seven and a half miles northeast of Oakley. Here they built a sod house with dirt floor in which they lived until they could build a frame house. They remained on this farm until September, 1942, when they retired and moved into Oakley.

In April, 1949, they celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary, on which occasion a long-time neighbor wrote the following tribute: "Having known this fine couple for more than fifty years, added a sentimental value to the occasion for us. Pioneers like these paved the way for the rest of us and we feel that Mr. and Mrs. Nye are especially deserving. The time was when there wasn't much money in evidence but the bond of friendship among the old settlers was ever strong and it did not take an organization to push it either. Homestead days were happy days. Someone asked them if they were happy, to which they answered 'yes' so quickly that we thought it was a great testimony after sixty years together."

They lived to see one more anniversary, and then he died September 3, 1950, at his home in Oakley. Interred in the Oakley Cemetery.

1.5.1.5 CORA JANE NYE, born March 23, 1877, near Chillicothe, Wapello Co., Iowa. She came with her parents to Thomas County, Kansas, by covered wagon in 1886 when they homesteaded northeast of Oakley. After her marriage she and her husband farmed in the same vicinity. After her husband's death she was employed in several homes as a housekeeper, but made her permanent home with her only living daughter, Goldie Jane Wilkins-Sowers, (1.5.1.5.2) in whose home she now resides at Oakley.

In September 1957, at the age of 80 years, she made her first trip back to Iowa since leaving there as a child. Her greatest disappointment of this return visit was finding the Des Moines River at Chillicothe "just a puddle" as compared to its size as she had always remembered it when her family "ferried" across it to reach the town.

(Although the native residents conceded that the river is perhaps less voluminous nowadays, her nephew and wife, Victor Nye (1.5.1.1.6), in whose company she made the visit to the scenes of her childhood, have since wondered if perhaps that apparent shrinkage in size of the Des Moines River may not be attributable to the difference in the imate of things as seen through the eyes of an eight-year-old in comparison with those seen by an octogenarian!)

1. 6. 5. 2 FLORENCE MIRIAM WARREN, born June 12, 1879, in Columbia Township, Wapello Co., Iowa. When she was four years old her parents moved to Polk Township and she resided there until her marriage. She attended White Oak and Conwell schools in that county, and college in Des Moines.

After her marriage she and her husband farmed until 1953. Following his death she was operator of the Munterville switchboard for three years. She resided at Chillicothe for several years and moved to Bloomfield, Davis Co., Iowa, in June, 1964, where she now makes her home.

A note of interest at this point concerns the chance acquaintance of the subject of this biography and her biographer, which began in the Chillicothe cemetery in Wapello County with the presence there of only the one party, the writer.

In September, 1957, on her first visit to this little cemetery, she copied gravestone inscriptions from all "Warren" stones, as well as from "Nye" stone, because of the fact that her husband's paternal grandmother's maiden name was "Warren" (1. 51.) -- not knowing at that time that the Warren family was connected in any other way with the Nye family.

Among the inscriptions copied was that from the grave of James Adam Waddington whose wife was Florence Warren-Waddington (above), still living, but whose name and birthdate appear on the stone with her husband's.

Upon arriving back in Western Kansas, these notes were laid away with other accumulated family data. Two years later, the information was again brought forth; and when pieced together and compared with other inscriptions copied at that same time, and with other later findings, the discovery was made that this Florence Warren is a granddaughter of Elizabeth E. Neu-Warren (1. 6) who came to America from Germany.

From this unusual introduction, and after a few resulting inquiries, a correspondence developed between the two parties; and in the fall of 1960, on the next trip to Iowa, the writer personally visited Florence Warren-Waddington.

The following summer, despite her eighty-two years, this little old lady, unaided and unaccompanied, boarded a train in Iowa and came to Oakley, Kansas, to spend a week with her long-lost "cousins". During her stay the family tree was brought forth, and through the keen memory and alert thinking of the Iowa visitor, many additions were made to the records, both in the NYE family line and in the WARREN family line.

Later research revealed the fact that her grandfather, Tillman Warren (1. 6) was an uncle of Rhoda Catherine Warren (1. 5. 1) thus proving double relationship between the two families.

She was interviewed for a special newspaper story when she was 89, at which time she apologized for her "laziness" in the year just past not having worked as hard as had been her habit in previous years. In that interview she recalled her work in the fields as a girl when she broke many acres of virgin prairie with a three-horse breaking plow; planted, cultivated, and picked corn, and did the milking, in addition to assisting with the housework, canning, churning, baking, soap making, and sewing. She also recalled attending two churches as a child. Her mother was a Free-Will Baptist and her father was a Methodist -- so she went to Methodist Sunday School in the morning and Baptist Sunday School in the afternoon.

(It was the pleasure of Victor Nye and his wife (1.5.1.1.6) to visit briefly with this interesting lady at the home of her son in Agency, Iowa, in October, 1960. A highlight of the visit was in being personally escorted by her to her bedroom where she proudly displayed the handmade spread on her bed in the corner of which was woven the pre-Civil War date of its making.)

I can faintly remember when we drove up to Grandfather Nye's (William A. Nye, 1.7) at Chillicothe, there was no bridge across the Des Moines river at Chillicothe and we usually went in July or August when the river was low enough to cross at 'the ford'. ". . . And a real pioneer. She took her child (Crecy) only six weeks old, and with her husband came by covered wagon to a squatter's claim (before father could file a claim) twelve miles southwest of Flagler, Colorado, to a one-room sod house. Two more children were born here,

FIFTH GENERATION

1.5.1.1.2 (STELLA) MAY NYE, born April 9, 1892, near Elgin, Oregon. She was brought to Kansas by her parents during the summer of 1893, a journey by covered wagon which required three months traveling time.

Several families traveled together in a caravan; and a herd of horses was also driven along. On several occasions the horses left the camp at night and returned to the camping spot of the previous night, thus requiring a full day for the riders to locate them and drive them back before resuming their journey.

A supply of bread was baked before the start of the trip, and after that supply was exhausted, the substitute consisted of quick breads that could be skillet-baked over an open fire. The horseback riders carried guns with which to obtain some of the needed meat. On one occasion a particularly skillful wagon-driver winged a sage hen with the long whip used to urge the horses along on the long strenuous journey. The few Indians which were met along the way were only friendly ones, seeming to be mostly interested in, "Trade horse, John?".

The subject of this biography, although she had learned to walk in the state of Oregon, found it necessary to relearn the art after arriving in Kansas that fall, due to illness along the way and the extended close confinement of the covered wagon. Her mother, who, incidentally, was expecting the birth of another child that fall, reported in later years that her most harrowing experience of the entire trip had been the moment she had witnessed from her wagon seat the near drowning of the entire party in the wagon just ahead, as the young boy-driver of that wagon had extreme difficulty in controlling his team when they forded a river at a particularly treacherous crossing.

(A decided contrast in travel comfort was experienced in later years by this same mother and daughter - the mother then being eighty-three years old - when together they boarded a plane at Denver, Colorado, for the quick flight to Los Angeles, this time luxuriating in the pleasant floating-on-the-clouds sensation, while partaking of the delicious meal served aloft in lieu of sage hen and sour-dough bread!)

After arriving in Kansas in the fall of 1893, this tiny girl's parents again settled on a farm in Thomas County, near Oakley, in the same community where they had lived before going to Oregon. They built a house of sod in which they lived until a frame house could be constructed.

On this farm the subject of this biography grew to womanhood. She attended the Belle Prairie rural school and church, and learned the many and varied arts of homemaking from her pioneer mother. During these years the family's mode of transportation consisted of the farm wagon and the horse and buggy, with the bobsled being drafted into service when the snow lay deep on the Kansas prairies.

After her first marriage she lived at Salina and Iola, Kansas, where her children were born, and at Wichita; and in later years she lived on a farm in Thomas County, near Colby, moving after the death of her second husband to her home in Colby where she now resides.

One of her pleasures in recent years has been her frequent trips to California to visit her three sons and their families, traveling usually by car, bus or train. In February, 1955, she enjoyed her first boat trip to Havana, Cuba, sailing from Miami, Florida; and in October, 1964, she was one of a group of one hundred twenty Kansas homemakers who traveled to Honolulu, Hawaii, to attend the annual meeting of the National Home Demonstration Council, sailing to the Fiftieth State aboard the S.S. Lurline. Thus one more mode of travel has been added to her long and interesting list.

1.5.1.1.6 VICTOR ALAN NYE, born August 16, 1911, on a farm north-east of Oakley in Thomas County, Kansas. He attended the Belle Prairie rural school and church and the Oakley Consolidated School.

From the age of fourteen he was actively engaged in farming with his father and continued in that occupation after his marriage, living on the same farmstead as his parents in a small house which had formerly been the home of his paternal grandparents, (Henry Nye, 1.5.1).

After his parents retired from farming in 1942, he purchased the family farm which he has continued to operate to the present time adding additional acreages. In March, 1948, he moved with his family to a home in Oakley where he and his wife presently reside.

She then taught two terms in the one-room rural school which she herself attended as a child, having one of her former schoolmates among her pupils.

Her hobbies are amateur genealogy, amateur photography, and travel, three pursuits which she finds convenient to combine. Her husband shares her zeal for travel, is less enthusiastic than she in the realm of films and shutter speeds, and follows her reluctantly to the sources of genealogical data -- to the cemeteries with scarcely legible inscriptions, to the historical and genealogical libraries, and even to the doorways of strangers! Nevertheless, without his dutiful assistance, the material for this compilation could not have been assembled.

In January, 1965, he was transferred to Cape Kennedy, Florida, where his work is in connection with the Saturn V rocket project. GEORGE NIGH

Foreword

Although a most diligent search has been conducted for the ancestral ties of the George Nigh whose genealogy follows, his ancestry was still uncertain at the time of publishing this book. Repeatedly success seemed to be at hand, only to learn that still a new and different George Nigh/Neu/Neigh of the same time and area had instead been found.

According to the tax records of Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, there lived there a John Nigh, Sr. and Jr. who paid taxes several years prior to 1780 and also a John New who is listed paying taxes there as early as 1762. A George Nigh is said to have been born there on January 5, 1758; certainly there was a John and a George Nigh who served in Captain William Berryhills Company from Cumberland County during the Revolution.

Franklin County was formed from Cumberland County in 1784 and we find a John, George and John Nye Sr. listed there in the 1790 census, indicating that the John and George of Franklin County are the same as appear in the Cumberland County records. There are no Neu-Nye-Nighs listed in the Cumberland County census for 1790. John Nigh died in 1806 in Franklin Co., Pennsylvania. If this is the same John Nye, Sr. who was the father of John and George, born 1758, then we have a second George, as John Sr. in his will names as executor his "son George and also George Nigh, the son of his brother". This being the case, this unnamed brother could have been the father of George Nigh-Neu of Washington County, Maryland, which adjoins Franklin County, Pennsylvania, and he could well have served as executor.

A George Ney paid taxes in Berks County, Heidelberg Twp., Pa. in 1767. He was almost certainly the son of Valentine Ney who came on the Ship Harle in 1736. This George later is mentioned in several land transactions in Tulphocken Twp., Berks Co. from 1773 to 1786. For the last several years of this period he was a saw mill operator; after 1790 there is no further record of him in that area.

In the census of 1790 he is listed with two males over 16, 3 males under 16 and 6 females in the family. He could have been born as early as 1732 and would then have been old enough to have had a son born 1755.

Regretfully, this riddle is left unsolved. It is hoped these records will help point the way to an eventual solution.

He was a senior member of a committee which met July 14, 1807 to draft resolutions "upon the dastardly outrages committed by the British Squadron stationed on our coast on the flag and citizens of the United States". He used a number of spellings of his name in transactions and records the names of Nye, Neu, Nigh and possibly Ney and Neigh. He died November 16, 1830 in Amanda Twp., Fairfield Co., Ohio. FOURTH GENERATION

42 JAMES NYE (Frisby 13, George Jr. 2, George 1), born July 23, 1830. Birthplace is not known. In 1852, in Carey, Ohio, there is recorded his marriage to Emily Warren. She was born September 8, 1833, and in the Ohio census of 1850 is recorded in Geauga Co. as E. Warren, F., age 19. James was evidently a colorful character, and family stories place him at various times in Utah and California, in the Union Army during the Civil War, and even cast him as a friend of Abraham Lincoln, but unfortunately these stories cannot be substantiated. That he was a wanderer seems borne out by the fact that his wife, Emily, is buried in Mt. Vernon, Ohio, and he died and is buried in Houghton, Michigan. Her death occurred on December 3, 1907, but the date of his death is unknown. There was an interval when the family lived in Rochester, Indiana, where Jame's aunt, Sarah Nigh Richardson, and her husband were in residence. Also living with Joseph and Sarah Richardson was her mother, Susannah Knooce Nigh, widow of George Nigh. The second child of James and Emily, Francis Jeremiah, was born in Rochester in 1855.

Early in life he migrated to Alaska, where he eventually became owner of the public utilities company in Skagway. He married a Catherine ? who owned a restaurant there. There were no children. Periodically, they came to the States and visited his brothers and sisters, and are remembered by the children in the families for their generosity. He bought Franklin cars on these trips, and himself built twelve miles of road about Skagway to make these cars useful to him. His substantial home in Skagway had an extensive greenhouse where he raised vegetables for the winters. He died in Seattle, Washington, in 1937, and inscribed on his tombstone is "PIONEER OF ALASKA".

70 FRANCIS JEREMIAH NYE (James 42, Frisby 13, George Jr. 2, George 1), known as Frank, born January 30, 1855 in Rochester, Indiana. We do not know what engaged the family there, except his Great-grandparents, George Jr. and Susannah (Knooce) Nye were in residence, with their daughter, Sarah Nigh Richardson and her husband, Joseph, during that period. Affidavits were filed in Fulton County by George Jr., in 1850, and later, by his widow, in 1861, in regard to a claim for bounty land as a reward for service in the War of 1812.

Nothing is known of Frank until his marriage in 1881 to Flora (or Florence) Arnold, in West Unity, Ohio, May 12, 1881. Flora Arnold was of a good family of West Unity; her brother Charles and his son after him owned a men's clothing store in West Unity. Their oldest child, Arthur, was born there in 1884. Apparently the family soon migrated to Kansas. In 1886 they built a very good house in Kanopolis, Kansas. In those pioneer days, a good house with screen doors, and a pump for the well, was a notable achievement.

Probably it was in Kanopolis that the second child, Ethel, was born. As a tiny tot, she found and consumed a large quantity of pills, and died from the overdose. Her mother never recovered from the grief of this tragedy.

It is assumed that Frank was always a merchant, since this was his business in later life, and nothing to the contrary is known. About 1890, the family moved again, and this time it was to nearby Belle Plaine, Kansas. There were born the twins, Carrie and Charlie, and also a son, Robert I. and an unnamed child which did not survive. The twin, Charlie, died soon after birth. No family connection exists, but other Nyes from Ohio were in Belle Plaine at the time. A Henry Nye and his brother were residing there after migrating from northwestern Ohio. (See 3140a, Henry Lawrence Nye, Volume II)

Sometime in the 90's or early 1900's, the family was on the move again, this time to Erie, Kansas. Here, Frank was proprietor of a general store. Pictures of this era show them to have been an unusually good-looking, well-dressed family. In later life, Frank and Flora moved to Webb City, Missouri, where they died at an advanced age, he in 1944 and she in 1945. Their burial place is in Webb City.

At sixteen he married, July 14, 1901, Lillie Ethel Kyle, daughter of Lewis Richard Kyle, a large land owner and developer of Neosho County. Their marriage was an elopement, so the little town of Erie had subject for conversation for a time. Later, Arthur attended La Salle University in Chicago for special courses in business and then opened a dry goods store in Erie in partnership with a Mr. George Gaston.

In 1906, the only child, Kyle, was born in Erie. During his childhood he was ill with numerous episodes of respiratory disease, so in 1917 the family moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico. There, Arthur was associated with the "Economist", a drygoods and fashion store, until his retirement in 1929. In 1942, during World War II, his merchandising experience was called into service at a Post Exchange at Kirtland Field in Albuquerque. McLean, Virginia

The ancestry of Captain John Peter Nye remains unsolved. One reference gives his forbears as Benjamin and Katherine (Tupper) Nye of Sandwich, Mass. Circumstances of places, names and family legend make more plausible the assumption that he was of Palatine Neu or Ney origin. Old records in St. John's Lutheran Church at Wytheville, Virginia bear the name on John P. Ney. His father or grandfather may well have been one of the several Ney immigrants who arrived from the Palatinate between 1727 and 1774. His mother was a Price, a descendant of the Philip and Rachel Price who came to America with William Penn. His home was originally in York, Pennsylvania and his father's family seems to have remained there as he made occasional trips to his old home after he was established in Wythe County, Va. A search of York County records and Lutheran Church records there should make possible the final determination of his ancestry. Also, the spelling of his wife's surname is in question. The National Genealogical Society Quarterly, Vol. 30, page 151, gives that he married Elizabeth Sippel referencing the family bible of Christopher Sippel; this also gives the birth year of his children. The Wythe County, Va. History, presumably taken from family records states her name was Elizabeth Seagle and that she was related to the Virginia families of Spillard and Thresher. (Her father, it is stated, was Jacob Seagle, also given as Sigle, who came to America from Germany in 1743.) Captain Nye probably served in the War of 1812. Records show he was present November, 1816 as part of the Court during a courtmartial procedure of the 35th Regiment of Volunteers, Virginia Militia.

Much of the material and the decision to include this chapter came after part of this book was already in process of printing. It has not been possible to present as complete a family history as would have been otherwise attempted.

1. JOHN PETER NYE, born _____ at _____. Son of _____ Nye and _____ Price. Married, 1795, Elizabeth, daughter of Jacob Seagle (Sigle), who came to America from Germany in 1743. He died November 5, 1827 at _____. She was born Sept. 2, 1776; died May 6, 1852.

Capt. Nye came to Virginia from York, Penna., and lived for awhile in the Stone House at Christiansburg.

Wythe County records show that he purchased a lot on the Main Street of Evansham in 1798. Later he bought lot No. 5, at the southeast intersection of Main and First Streets. In that deed he obligated himself to build a stone wall at no greater cost than $150.00 at a certain place on the site. A part of this wall is visible under the present building.

Between 1810-1820 Capt. Nye made entries approximating 3,000 acres on the waters of Reed Creek, in the neighborhood of the Toncrays, Davises, and the Robert Crockett heirs.

He was prominent in civic, religious and governmental affairs. In 1806 he framed a body of laws for the town. In 1812 he was one of the Board of Trustees which met May 13 in accordance with the provision of a new act of the General Assembly. In 1813 he was elected to the Virginia Legislature.

He made occasional visits to his old home in York, Penna., and on his return some of his friends and neighbors accompanied him. Among the numbers were the Hallers, Evalde, Prices and Sutherses.

Dr. John Haller, Dr. Robert Cibboney and Capt. Nye, the former a skillful surgeon, organized the first medical college west of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Classes were conducted in the old Haller House at the northeast corner of Main and Fourth Avenue. (Dr. John Haller had built his new home, the Old Rock House, at the corner of Tazewell St. and Monroe in 1823.) A log house which stood in the rear of the present site of Fourth Avenue Hotel was used as the operating unit of the college, or university, as some called it. This school functioned until the opening of the Civil War. Dr. Robert Crockett, one of southwest Virginia's finest surgeons, received his preparatory training there, as did four sons of Capt. Nye and four members of the Haller family.

Capt. John P. Nye was a prominent Mason. He was initiated into the order in 1801 in Wytheville and had advanced, so his greatgrandson said, to the York Rite at the time of his death in 1826. His lodge at one time was located at the Lead Mines. He served as Master of the Wytheville Lodge and was several times sent as a delegate to the Grand Lodge in Richmond. When a paralytic stroke confined him to his home one or more meetings of the Lodge convened there. He and his wife are buried in the cemetery of St. Johns Lutheran Church, Wytheville, Va.
